Thesis@Keio: A new short-term program for graduate students

Published: 28 September 2015

This program aims to support future researchers deepen their knowledge of Japan and provides graduate students with opportunities to expand their cultural experience and to build an international, academic network at Keio University. Successful applicants may conduct their thesis research at Keio for anywhere between 7 and 89 days.

Applicants may apply for a period (of research at Keio) of their choice throughout the academic year, except when the university is closed. (i.e., mid-August, from late December to early January, entrance-exam weeks during the first half of February, and from late April to early May Exact dates vary year to year.)

Program Fee
Please see below for information concerning program fees:

- 7 to 14 days - 30,000 JPY
- 15 to 30 days - 50,000 JPY
- 31 to 56 days - 60,000 JPY
- 57 to 89 days - 70,000 JPY

Please check the Thesis@Keio website for information concerning accommodation, travel and living expenses.

Apply

Applications open on August 3, 2015. Please click here to apply for the Thesis@Keio on the Keio University website. Successful students must complete the UNSW Global Education Registration Form and Transfer of Credit Form once accepted.

More information

Please find the attached flyer and more details on the web pages below.

For further details on the program please email thesis-at-keio@adst.keio.ac.jp.

For further information email - advisor4globaled@unsw.edu.au

See next

- Global Notices

  All news and events for UNSW Global Education

- Thesis@Keio.pdf