The Career Ready Mentoring Program connects UNSW students in their penultimate and final year of study with established industry professionals, providing students with a significant opportunity to focus on career development during the transition from study to work.

Responsibilities

Through industry exposure, professional guidance and self-directed participation, each student will develop career-ready skills, providing a tangible link between study, employment and industry.

How to get involved

Applications for the 2020 program have closed and will open in March 2021.

Training

UNSW Careers will provide pre-program training, which will assist in the development of students’ confidence and preparation for the program.
