UNSW Faculties are required to review all degree programs at least once every 7 years. These reviews are completed by a Panel, which includes a student or recent graduate member representative. These panels undertake a detailed review of program documentation, interview key figures, often including the Dean, Program Director and teaching staff, and write a detailed report.

Student members are required to participate in all these tasks, and maintain the highest standards of discretion and professionalism.

Responsibilities

Student members of the panel are responsible for the Review, undertaken every 7 years, into the academic programs of the University (coursework and research).
