The Medibank International Conference and Fieldwork Grants (MICFG) for international students undertaking a Postgraduate Research program are closed for Semester 2, 2018. Please refer back to this webpage in 2019 to see if a new round of grants will be offered.

Grants of $2,000 are available in Semester 2, 2018 for students with an international component to their research or conference presentation.

Grants are for the sole purpose of:

- Domestic conference travel to present a paper (including New Zealand)
- International fieldwork; or
- Domestic fieldwork with an international focus

Grants are NOT for international conference travel.

Students must be enrolled in a research program at the time of travel and comply with the eligibility criteria of the Medibank International Conference and Fieldwork Grant.

Eligibility

To be considered for the grant, applicants must:
Be an international student undertaking a Masters by Research or PhD and enrolled in a research program at the time of travel
Use the grant for upcoming Domestic Conference travel to present a paper; International or Domestic Fieldwork only
Have an international component to their research or a collaboration
Have the support of their Supervisor
Be of good academic standing and on track for on-time completion
Not have been a recipient of the MICFG in prior rounds
Be a Medibank OSHC member (include membership number in application)

Note: International students who have received a PRSS are also eligible for the MICFG.

How to Apply

- Submit an application and supporting documents to international.student@unsw.edu.au. Include ‘MICFG application’ and your name in the subject line of your email.
- Applications are currently CLOSED and will be assessed on a first-come basis

- MICFG Application Form