This summer Bocconi University will offer the fourth edition of the Bocconi Summer School, a selective three week (2-20 July, 2018) study program taught in English and open to motivated Bachelor students. Bocconi Summer School is not only a unique chance to participate in an intensive learning environment, but its students will be in Milan, Italy’s bustling commercial and financial hub.

It is also a great opportunity for participants to socialize and learn from other bright, committed young people – each class group will represent a pool of talent with a lot to share, inside the classroom and out. Milan and Italy offer students many possibilities to build some memories during their free time. They will be able to enjoy fun evenings and tours around town, weekend visits to the artistic and cultural wonders of Venice, Rome and Florence or day trips to the mountains, the alpine lakes, agritourist farms and wine regions.

Bocconi Summer School offers seven courses in Digital Marketing, Economics of European Union, Entrepreneurship and Innovation Management, Equity and Venture Capital Financing, Fashion and Design Management, International Business and Luxury Management, open to 30 selected participants. The study environment involves innovative multimedia spaces, lectures plus teamwork projects and company visits. All in all, 21 memorable days to learn, experience new surroundings and earn academic credits.
