How the Educational Support Service can help you

Published: 28 February 2018

Are you doing well but want to do even better? Perhaps you are struggling to adjust to university life or have personal circumstances impacting your study? Are time management or procrastination issues familiar to you? Or perhaps you are finding it hard being away from family and friends? Then watch these videos to find out how the Educational Support Advisors can provide you with assistance throughout your studies and listen to students speak about their experiences with the service.

What is the Educational Support Service?

What do Educational Support Advisors Do?

Visit the Educational Support Service web pages to find out more:

See more information