Reimagining India February: Last Chance to Apply

Applications are about to close for a truly unique NCP funded visit to India.

This once in a lifetime opportunity will develop your understanding of the political, cultural, and socioeconomic worlds of India – and you could receive $3000 funding from the Australian Government’s New Colombo Plan to support your participation.

A group of students from 14 leading Australian universities will spend two weeks in India with experiential learning provider IndoGenius. Over 200 Australians have completed this program in the last two years.

PROGRAM DATES: 2nd-16th February 2019

Join us in the world’s fastest growing economy and most diverse place on earth. The Reimagining India program now has 120 Australian alumni selected from over 1000 applications. Two weeks of interdisciplinary learning takes place in Mumbai, Jaipur, Agra and New Delhi.

You will discover contemporary India’s growing political and economic role on the world stage at sites ranging from diplomatic enclaves, multinationals and 3D printing workshops to rural villages, ancient cities and slum recycling centres.

Participants will interact with 20+ local and international organisations including:

– On-site visits and talk with industry experts from various sectors;
– Government bodies, including the Australian High Commission;
– Visits to prestigious institutions to meet students and learn about their entrepreneurial businesses and ideas;
– On-site visits and activities with social enterprises.
– You will meet and network with business leaders at their corporate offices and interact with the world’s fastest-growing startup ecosystem.

The program is delivered by IndoGenius - India’s leading provider of short courses to international students with over 1,400 alumni from the UK, US and Australia since 2011

WHY APPLY
