The NSW International Student Awards celebrate the outstanding contribution international students make to communities in NSW and recognise excellence in international student community engagement.

UNSW is currently taking nominations for two award categories:
NSW International Student of the Year Award

Do you know an international student who is an inspirational role model to the community?

Do you know an international student who is an inspirational role model to the community by:

- Touching the lives of others
- Participating in the community
- Connecting an ethnic or language community group with the broader community
- Volunteer work

Recent achievement or contribution to a cause will be viewed favourably.

All nominations and supporting materials must be submitted via the UNSW Awards Online page. Nominees will go before a UNSW Selection Panel who will determine the UNSW candidate to be put forward for the NSW International Student of the Year Award.

UNSW Nomination Applications close on Monday, 31 August 2020 (Midnight).

NSW International Student Community Engagement Awards

Do you know any education providers, businesses and community groups that support international students to connect with the community?

Do you know any education providers, businesses and community groups that support international students to connect with the community through programs and initiatives that have:

- Generated benefits for the students, the community and/or business
- Addressed an identified need
- Facilitated meaningful connections and new pathways for community participation and/or employment (for example by offering work experience or mentorship)
- Enhanced relationships and networks and/or helped to break down barriers
- Potential for replication and/or adaptation by others

Self-nominations are acceptable (therefore the person nominating and endorsing can be the same).

Nominating for the Awards provides an opportunity to reward and encourage an individual student or a team that is going ‘above and beyond’.
