Dealing with anything to do with suicide or related feelings and thoughts can be extremely upsetting and stressful. If you are yourself feeling suicidal or having thoughts about suicide, if you find yourself making plans to take your own life it is VERY IMPORTANT to let someone know how you are feeling and thinking. There are many options available to find appropriate help in dealing with such distressing thoughts and feelings.

National counselling services

Suicide Call Back Service

- 1300 659 467 Professional call back service referral line
- operates seven days a week
- Suicide call back service website

Lifeline

- 13 11 14
- Trained counsellors available 24 hours a day
- Lifeline website

Kids Help Line

- 1800 55 1800
- 24 hour professional phone and online counselling service
- For anyone 25 years or younger
- Kids Help Line website

The Salvation Army Hope Line

- 1300 467 354
- 24 hour phone counselling and bereavement support
- The Salvation Army Hope Line website

Mensline Australia

- 1300 789 978
- 24 hour professional phone counselling and referral service for men
- Mensline Australia website

Veterans Line

- 1800 011 046
- After hour counselling
- For veterans and their family
- Website

SANE Helpline
Beyond-blue

- 1300 22 4636
- Beyondblue website

Other useful websites

- Australian Centre for Grief and Bereavement
- Depression Services
- Metanoia
- Mindhealthconnect
- Grieflink
- Headspace
- Helpguide.org
- Living is for everyone (crisis support and information)
- Hope for Life
- Mindhealthconnect
- Reach Out!
- Soften the fck up - website for men
- St James Ethic Centre - offers a free ethics counselling service.
- Suicide Prevention Australia
- Support After Suicide (for those who know someone who has committed suicide)