For Annual Course Enrolment, UNSW has a waitlisting system.

For Class Registration, UNSW is piloting class waitlisting.

What is Waitlisting?

Waitlisting is a type of automated queuing that will let you select full courses or classes (that have no spaces left) and join a list of students waiting to enrol.

If spaces become available and you are at the top of the waitlist, you will be automatically enrolled and notified by email.

Waitlisting is available for most courses and some classes. If waitlisting is not available for your course or class, please submit a Full Class Request Form.

How waitlisting works

Click here for a full step-by-step guide for each of the below sections, or follow the ordered steps below.

Rules for waitlisting

Waitlisting follows normal enrolment rules for:

- Maximum Study Load (UOC): You cannot join a waitlist if you are already at the maximum UOC for a Term (normally 18 UOC). If you have been approved to Overload you can join waitlists up to your approved Maximum Study Load.

- Conditions of Enrolment: If a course has requirements that need to be met before you can enrol, you still need to meet those requirements to join the waitlist and be enrolled. These can be Prerequisites, Co-requisites, Program Requirements, UOC Requirements and others. If you join a waitlist for a course you do not meet the requirements for, you will not be enrolled if spaces become available.

- Course Permissions: If the course you have selected requires School or Faculty consent or permission to enrol, you will not be able to join the waitlist and enrol unless that permission has already been given.

If you cannot join a waitlist, or if you receive an email saying you could not be enrolled, please check our Questions and Answers section before contacting The Nucleus: Student Hub.

Joining a waitlist does not guarantee that you will be enrolled in the course or class. You will only be enrolled if you are at the top of the waitlist, meet the enrolment requirements and spaces
How to join a course waitlist

Joining the waitlist is an enrolment request. If space becomes available you will be enrolled in the course automatically and will then be responsible for finishing your Class Registration and will be liable for the course as with standard course enrolment.

You will not lose your position in a waitlist if you cancel a swap, however if you are over your Maximum Term Study Load for the Term, your position will be placed on hold.

Waitlisting Questions and Answers

I submitted a Full Class Request Form but now my course has waitlisting, what should I do?

More courses and classes have waitlisting available each Term.

If you submitted a Full Class Request Form for a course/class that did not have waitlisting available and now it does have waitlisting available, you will be added to the new waitlist manually by your Course Authority.

If you submitted a Full Class Request Form but have not been added to the waitlist, please contact your Course Authority directly for assistance.

I can't find the option to join a waitlist for my course/class

To join a waitlist, the course or class must have waitlisting available and must be full.

Most courses and some classes have waitlisting available at this time.

If waitlisting is not available for your course or class and is full, please submit a Full Class Request Form.

When will my other courses have waitlisting?

Hopefully all courses will eventually have waitlisting available, however, please be patient while we test and get your feedback on the current system.

If your course or class is full but does not have waitlisting available, please submit a Full Class Request Form.

Who has priority on the waitlist? Who gets enrolled first?

By default, the waitlist will enrol students in the order they joined the waitlist, with students who joined first, being enrolled first.

UNSW reserves the right to adjust the waitlist order.

How and when do I find out if I've been enrolled?
Once a space in the course or class becomes available and you are at the top of the waitlist, you will be automatically enrolled.

You will then receive an email notification (to your UNSW student email account) of the outcome within an hour.

You can also check your Enrolment Basket on myUNSW to see your position and status in the waitlist.

What do I do after I've joined the waitlist?

After joining a waitlist, you need to monitor your UNSW student email account for any outcome notifications. These notification emails will include instructions and who to contact for help if needed.

Joining a waitlist does not guarantee that you will be enrolled, so we also recommend that you continue to search for alternative enrolment options.

I'm fully enrolled but want to join a waitlist, how can I?

Although you can only enroll in courses up to your UOC maximum (normally 18 UOC) you can instead choose to Swap one of your enrolled courses for a waitlist course.

This will keep you enrolled in your current course until a place in the waitlist course becomes available, your enrolment will be swapped your enrolment without taking you over the maximum UOC.

My position keeps changing, what's happening?

While you are in the waitlist, you can move up (closer to number 1 on the list) or down (to the bottom of the list). This happens when other students on the list are enrolled, leave the list, or if the list is sorted or prioritized.

Can I join more than one waitlist?

You can join multiple waitlists up to your Term Study Load (UOC) maximum.

If you are enrolled in multiple courses and in a waitlist for your last course, you can still enrol in another course, however your waitlist will be put on hold until you swap into it from another course.

Because joining a waitlist does not guarantee that you will be enrolled or given a spot in the course, we recommend that you continue to search for alternative Course Enrolment options so that you do not miss out.

I received an email saying my waitlist enrolment failed, what happened?

Waitlisting enrolment follows the same enrolment rules as standard Course Enrolment. Check the Waitlisting Rules section to see why you may not have been enrolled.

Contact The Nucleus: Student Hub for more help.

I accidentally left my waitlist and have lost my place, what can I do?

If you leave and rejoin a waitlist, you will be put to the bottom of the waitlist.

If you accidentally leave a waitlist and want to rejoin at your previous position, please contact the Course Authority (the Faculty or School running the course) within 24 hours for help.
Can I see my position and status in the waitlist?

You can see your position and status in the waitlist by hovering over the waitlisting information icon in your Enrolment Basket:

There are a few different icons that you may see:

- WAIT The blue WAIT icon means that you are in the waitlist and processing as normal. You can hover over the blue WAIT icon to see your position in the waitlist.
- WAIT The orange WAIT icon means that your position in the waitlist has been put on hold (paused) by a UNSW staff member.
member. For help, contact your Course Authority (the Faculty or School running the course).

WAIT The red WAIT icon means that the system tried to enrol you but received an enrolment error. You should check your UNSW student email account for an error notification or see the Enrolment Error by clicking on the information icon in your Enrolment Basket. For help, contact The Nucleus: Student Hub.

Does joining a waitlist guarantee a spot?

No, joining a waitlist does not guarantee that you will be enrolled in the course or class. You will only be enrolled if:

- You are at the top of the waitlist,
- Spaces become available and
- You meet the enrolment requirements for the course.

I've joined a waitlist but think I should have priority, who can I speak to?

There may be some cases where your position in the waitlist can be changed. You will need to contact the Course Authority (the Faculty or School running the course) to discuss.

I've joined a waitlist for Course/Class Enrolment, do I also need to submit a Full Class Request Form?

You do not need to submit a Full Class Request Form if you have already joined a waitlist.

You only need to submit a Full Class Request Form if:

- The course/class is full and Waitlisting is not available.
