Are you having difficulty finding a job? Are you looking on Seek and online for jobs but not having any success? Did you know that 70-80% of positions are not advertised?

The same old way of doing things won’t work in today’s job market, come and learn how and where to start looking for jobs.

In this seminar you will learn that successful job search involves being proactive and using a range of different techniques to access the ‘hidden’ job market and identify opportunities that are not advertised. This seminar will teach you how to plan and organise your job search, conduct industry research, make relevant contacts and create your own opportunities.
