Find information on how and when to enrol, how to change your enrolment, and who to contact for assistance.

Your enrolment is your responsibility. You must be correctly enrolled by the enrolment deadline each term/semester.

Information for:

* New students enrolling for first the time will use Getting Started services.
* UNSW Canberra students (non-Research Students) can contact the Canberra Student Admin team directly.
* Research students will enrol online through myUNSW.
* All other students, see below.

Annual enrolment for continuing students

Find out how to enrol as a continuing undergraduate or postgraduate coursework student.

Annual enrolment allows you to better plan your study by enrolling in all your courses for the year ahead.

Summer term enrolment

Fast track your study by enrolling in Summer Term courses offered in intensive mode.

More information

Dates for enrolment

Key dates and deadlines for enrolment.

Changing your enrolment

Information about late enrolment, program leave, program discontinuation, program transfer and cross-institutional study.

Credit transfer
Apply to have previous study recognised and the credit transferred to your current program.

Course enrolment waitlisting

Waitlisting is a type of automated queuing that will let you select full courses (courses that have no spaces left) and join a list of students waiting to enrol.

Stream declaration

In many programs, you need to select which stream(s) you will study. Depending on your program, these can include majors, minors or specialisations.

Cross campus enrolment

Due to the different academic calendars, it is generally not permitted to undertake cross campus enrolment between UNSW Sydney and UNSW Canberra.

Forms and documents

Forms and document relating to your enrolment.

Contacts and FAQs

Contacts for enrolment support and answers to common questions.

See also

Guide to academic standing

Academic standing tells you how well you’re progressing toward completion of your program.

Guide to academic progression

Your guide to understanding the progress you make towards completion of your program.