Fudan University is running their Fudan Summer Camp on Chinese Economy and Society this year. It is a 2-week international summer program held every July by their School of Economics, from 13 July to 24 July 2020.

This program aims to help students to develop a deep understanding of China’s economic, commercial, social, and political landscape. Besides lectures, there are company visits, field trips, and networking opportunities to facilitate this.

Fees

Approximately CNY 16 580. This is made up of an application fee (CNY 400) and tuition fee (CNY 16 180). The tuition fees covers such costs as lectures, field trips and evening activities. More info can be found here.
You may be eligible to apply for the following funding options for your overseas study:

- OS-HELP

Apply

Interested students should email advisor4globaled@unsw.edu.au for further information.

If you wish to transfer credit for the program, you must first seek approval from your faculty for credit transfer through Cross-Institutional Enrolment. For more information see - Applying for credit and funding for your overseas short course.

Risk assessment

All programs involve some degree of risk to participants. If you choose to source a provider on your own, please remember to do some research on them first and ensure that they are a legitimate organisation and that the product they offer will definitely meet your requirements. Students are therefore advised to undertake their own risk assessment before departure and any participation in these programs is at their own risk.

Before departure

All students should register their travel with UNSW. You should also undertake a risk assessment before heading overseas. For more information see - How to prepare for departure.
