There is a range of specialised computer software and equipment that can assist you to access course and study information. You may already be familiar with the various computer software packages that adapt text into a readable format for a number of vision and learning disabilities. Some of these are available in the Assistive Technology Centres located in the Main Library and the Law Library.

Disability Services also has a very limited range of equipment and ergonomic furniture available for loan during the semester if required.

Your Disability Adviser will discuss with you the best way to use the technology and facilities that are available to all UNSW students or whether you require specialised access and support.

NOTE: Eligibility for assistive technology support is assessed by the documentation provided by your Doctor or Health Professional and in consultation with your Disability Adviser. If you need assistance, contact us and register for support.
