When your academic standing is anything other than Good, you must consult with an Academic Advisor. Early intervention may help prevent the more serious consequences of continued poor performance.

Your Academic Advisor

You can find your academic advisor here in myUNSW.

Your Academic Standing letter will advise how to make an appointment with an academic advisor.

If an individual academic advisor has been assigned to you, you will see their name listed under ‘Advisor Information’. Alternatively, you may find further information about how to make an appointment with an advisor, for example, through your faculty Student Centre.

If the Academic Advisor field is blank, you should contact your program office and an academic advisor will be assigned to you.
Student Support Services

Academic Success Workshops

These workshops offer practical, useful and time-tested strategies to help you focus and get your studies and Academic Standing back on track.

Attending an Academic Success Workshop does not substitute the requirement to meet with your Academic Advisor. You must still contact your Academic Advisor if you are on Probation, Provisional Suspension or Provisional Exclusion.

Who can go to a workshop?

These workshops are available for Local and International students on Referral, Probation, Provisional Suspension and Provisional Exclusion Academic Standing.

When are the workshops?

For Term 1 2020 there are four Academic Success Workshops available in February.
