This information is designed to help address some of the factors impeding your academic progress, help you get in touch with an Academic Advisor and provide you with resources and links to appropriate sources of help.

When your academic standing is anything other than GOOD, you must consult with an Academic Advisor. Early intervention may help prevent the more serious consequences of continued poor performance.

Your Academic Advisor

You can find your Academic Advisor here in myUNSW.

View the Academic Standing letter which will advise you who your Academic Advisor is, or which Program Office you should contact.

How to improve your academic standing

These support services can help you improve your academic standing:
For development of skills needed to succeed at university, whilst also providing personal support

Student support and success

Meet with an International Student Advisor

International student advisors

More support services

More contacts