IIT Madras is organizing a fortnightly Webinar series, SIDDHI - Self-reliant India: Discussions & Dialogues for Humane Innovations.

SIDDHI is a collaborative endeavor with faculty, researchers and students involved in projects sponsored by Government of India under SPARC, VAJRA and socially relevant projects approved by the Government of India such as Unnat Bharat Abhiyan and New India Internship

The objective of the SIDDHI Webinar series is to commemorate Mahatma Gandhi's 150th birth anniversary.

Gandhi emphasized swaraj - self-reliance, self-sufficiency, social development, self-governance, and the development of all sections of India.

The SIDDHI Webinar series will engage with the following themes:

1. Technology for self-reliance (atma-nirbharta)
2. Socially relevant technologies
3. Technology and rural development

More information on each Webinar and registration link can be found here.

Please note the Webinars do not bear academic credits.
