Leeds International Summer School

Published: 21 May 2021

Highlights

Leeds International Summer School (LISS) 2021 will take place online this July. Students can choose academic modules from a diverse range of subject areas taught at a time which suits them.

Leeds International Summer School also includes a virtual social and cultural program.

Students can choose one or two modules from a diverse range of subject areas, will be taught in online classes by University of Leeds teaching staff, and will work individually and with others. Classes will be a combination of synchronous (live) teaching and asynchronous learning. Independent study is an important element of this course, allowing students to practise their skills and deepen your knowledge.

This is a full-time course. Live online teaching will normally take place between 8.30–10am or 5–6.30pm British Summer Time (BST) from Monday to Thursday. Students can choose a module, or modules, with live teaching which suits your time zone.

Enrolment Type and Fees

Enrolment Type: Exchange

Fees: Exchange students pay the non-tuition costs to Leeds: £250 (four week programme) or £125 (two weeks). Students nominated for an Exchange place will pay regular tuition fees to UNSW.
