The Learning Centre is offering a thesis writing support program for Higher Degree Research students. This program provides students with feedback on their writing and assistance with any specific writing problem. It involves peer feedback and individual discussion of each student’s writing.

Suitable for: research students who are already writing on a regular basis. It is NOT suitable for students in their first year. Students are expected to share a couple of pages of their own writing before each meeting.

Consists of: five fortnightly small groups meetings at various times during the week (program runs for a ten-week period).

Groups: run by an experienced facilitator, groups will be small (no more than five students) and will be discipline-based, as much as feasible. Liaison with supervisors is welcomed.

We strongly encourage students from a particular school or research group to apply as a group. Such groups have been particularly successful in the past.

Begins: During Term 1 2019. Days and times will be organised with the applicants.

Enrolling for the program

Your supervisor’s consent is required.

Applications for the 2019 Thesis writing support program are currently closed. Please check this page later in the year for information about upcoming programs.
