Here you can find undergraduate programs in the UNSW Law Faculty available for Internal Program Transfer (IPT).

For students in non-Law programs

UNSW Law reserves 100 places for applicants to enrol in the undergraduate Law program via Internal Program Transfer (IPT). UNSW students who

- have completed a minimum of 48 units of credit (UOC) at UNSW and
- have not failed any course and
- are not in the final year of their current program will be eligible to apply for an internal program transfer to a Law double degree program. For entry into Law in Term 1 2019, applicants will be assessed solely on their UNSW studies. Excellent students from all UNSW Faculties are encouraged to apply.

Important information for students who have completed more than 48 UOC, applying for IPT to Law:

- Timetabling for transfer students is based on the expectation that transferring students will have completed 48 UOC only of their partner degree. Due to sequencing and pre-requisites students transferring to law with more than 48 UOC are not guaranteed a full-time timetable.
- Students in the final year of their current degree program are not eligible for an IPT place in law and should apply instead for the Juris Doctor program (via Universities Admissions Centre (UAC) for domestic students or Apply Online for international students).
- Students currently in an International Studies program wishing to apply for an internal program transfer to the law program will not be permitted to take program leave or defer their law offer to commence in Term 2 2019 or Term 3 2019 if they are going on an overseas exchange in Semester 2, 2018 and Term 1, 2019. If the student receives an IPT offer to the law program and wishes to accept the offer to commence in Term 1 2019, they will be required to forgo their International Studies program and transfer to another law degree program (e.g. Arts/Law).

Please note:

- All applications for internal transfer will be considered on the basis of information available at the time applications are assessed. There is no provision for considering late results or for delaying decisions.
- For students in non-Law programs, transfer to a Law degree program is only available in Term 1.

For current Law students

Current Law students wishing to transfer to a different Law program in Term 1 2019 e.g. Arts/Law to Science/Law are eligible to transfer and do not compete with other internal program transfer applicants.

Internal program transfer between law programs are generally approved except for students who are not in GOOD academic standing. Applications from students not in GOOD academic standing will be assessed on a case-by-case basis.
