UNSW has enabled staff to record their lectures and share them with their students for their educational benefit for over ten years, under the service of UNSW Lecture Recordings+ (also called Echo360/LR+) which is now powered by a cloud-based service - Echo360 Active Learning Platform. It brings a range of advantages that support engaged learning in lecture-based courses, flipped classrooms and blended learning strategies, which include:

- Higher quality audio/video playback
- Increased reliability
- New classroom engagement tools and analytics
