Public Health Study Tour
Virtual Program in Indonesia
For academic credit
About the Program
The two-week intensive virtual study tour offers students the chance to gain experience in the public health sector in Indonesia. The tour provides an introduction to the public health challenges currently facing Indonesia, as well as to existing government, international and community-led initiatives tasked with meeting these challenges.

This is a unique opportunity for students to hear from leading health professionals, policy-makers and community health workers, and to discuss approaches to health issues with Indonesian counterparts. The program will be facilitated by a leading academic in the field of public health who possess specialised knowledge of Indonesia.

Tour Components
» Introduction to Indonesian classes;
» Seminars focused on public health in Indonesia;
» Virtual field trips; and
» Interactive cultural activities.

Who Can Apply?
This tour is designed for public health students, as well as students from related disciplines such as Health Promotion, Epidemiology, Occupational Health and Safety, Environmental Health, Community Health, Development Studies, Health Policy, Public Policy, Nursing and Health Sciences.

Applications are due by 1 October 2021 for the November 2021 and January 2022 virtual tour.

www.acicis.edu.au

The Australian Consortium for In-Country Indonesian Studies known as ACICIS (pronounced “ah-chee-chis” as an Indonesian would) has been opening doors to tertiary institutions throughout Indonesia since 1994, offering a range of study options and in-country support to help students gain invaluable first-hand experience of one of the richest and most diverse countries in the world.

ACICIS gratefully acknowledges the current and historical contributions made to the consortium’s growth and development - in the form of both financial and in-kind support - by Murdoch University, The University of Western Australia, the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT)’s Australia Indonesia Institute (AII), the Commonwealth Department of Education and Training (DET), the National Asian Languages and Studies in Schools Program (NALSSP), the Myer Foundation, the Australian Learning and Teaching Council (ALTC), and the Australian Government’s New Colombo Plan. © Photographs by James Walsh